Visiting the Dog Park

Prepare for your dog's first visit by exploring the Dog Park without your dog. Enter the off-leash area, walk around, and feel free to ask questions to anyone in the park.

The first time your dog comes to the park, try to visit at a relatively quiet time of day so that your dog can experience this new place without being overwhelmed by potential playmates. Most parks experience peak usage early in the morning, after work hours on weekdays, and midday on weekends.

When you arrive, stand outside the fence and watch the dogs inside the off-leash area for a few minutes before you enter. Consider the following before deciding to enter:

- Does your dog already know any of the dogs in the park?

- Are they playing in a manner that is comfortable for your dog?
- Does your dog look keen to enter or reluctant?
- Assess how many dogs are already playing in the park, and whether their owners are paying attention.
- If your dog seems afraid or reluctant to enter, remember that it is better to leave and come back another time rather than set your dog up for trouble.

If you decide to enter...

- Be aware that dogs already in the park will likely gather around the gate to “meet and greet” your dog.
- Allow your dog to remain in the enclosed area for a few moments until the other dogs retreat from the entrance area.
- When you and your dog feel comfortable, open the second gate and let your dog enter the play area.
- Close the second gate behind you and lead your dog into the play area.
- Do not use your cell phone so that it cannot distract your attention from your dog.
- Inside the park, keep moving. Dogs tend to play more when their owners are in motion. An owner standing or sitting in one place makes it more likely for a dog to guard the surrounding space.
- While your dog plays, stay engaged: call your dog periodically, praise and reward, and then say, “Go play!”
- Have your dog take occasional breaks from play to make over-arousal less likely.

When you and your dog are ready to leave...

- Before you open the inner gate, make sure the outer gate is properly closed and that other dogs are not trying to leave with you.
- Open the inner gate and enter the vestibule. Close the inner gate properly and ensure that the latch is secure.
- Place a leash securely on your dog, open the outer gate and exit from the vestibule.
- Close the outer gate and check that it is properly secured.

Common Dog Behaviors Defined

Mounting

Mounting is a form of dog play that can be especially volatile, even if the dogs are well matched in size and physical condition. Mounting is not necessarily about reproduction or dominance, but can be a request for attention, an invitation to play, or a way for an overexcited dog to discharge energy. The problem is that some dogs are intolerant of mounting, and so it can trigger fights. Because mounted dogs often react to an innocent dog standing in front of them rather than to the one on top, the behavior can pose risks for surrounding dogs. If your dog tends to mount, teach an “off” cue and intervene. Better yet, learn to see the behavior coming and redirect your dog before another one is stressed by it.

Resource Guarding

Some dogs are very protective of objects they value. The resources a dog may guard can be food (including training treats), toys, their owners (“my hunter, my driver, my ball thrower,” etc.), doorways, and more—even feces or holes! Early signs of resource guarding could include hovering in a particular space or over a toy, lip licking (indicating stress), flared whiskers, curling the lip, and freezing as another dog approaches. If your dog appears to be resource guarding, remove the resource, if possible. If that is not possible or does not help, take him/her out of the park before they begin lunging at others or a fight erupts, and come back at a quieter time. If someone else’s dog is resource guarding, move your dog away from him, put away anything that seems to arouse the dog’s guarding impulse, point out aggressive behavior to the other owner, or leave.

Snarks and Scuffles

When a dog nips or bumps too hard, another dog may respond by giving off a snark. A “snark” is a vocalization that sounds like a combined snarl and bark. A “scuffle” sounds like a fight but ends just as quickly as it started. If your dog has just had a scuffle, a time out may be advisable. If there are repeated snarks or scuffles, then it may be time to head home for the day and consider whether that group of playmates is healthy for your dog.

Understanding Dog Behavior

When at the Dog Park, it is important to understand basic canine body language. The following information will help you recognize what is ok and what might lead to trouble.

Aggression vs. Correction

There are times when a dog will correct another dog for something he deems inappropriate. This is normal, nonaggressive, and is good for teaching young dogs important lessons about canine social structure and body language. Appropriate corrections generally escalate in severity and result in no harm being done to the correctee. If your dog is over-correcting, it may be time to give a time out.

- Stiff body posturing and pilo-erection or whale eye (hair on shoulders and butt stand up and you see the whites of eyes)
- Loud woofs or snarks directed at an individual
- Muzzle punching or lunging resulting in no harm being done to the correctee
- Normally done once and the argument is over

Appropriate – You're Ok!

Dogs nip while they play, chase, slam each other with their shoulders and hips, lie on top of each other, mount each other, and “fence” with their teeth. It can look scary and confusing to human beings, but it is how dogs have fun

- Butt sniffing and loose tail and body language
- Wide, circular tail wagging
- Play bows
- Butt bumps
- Playful vocalization
- Brief, fair, and harmless disagreements or corrections

Healthy Play

The following questions can help dog owners sort good, healthy fun from abusive or bullying play:

- Do both dogs look happy most of the time?
- Are their tails, mouths, and movements loose and relaxed (having fun), or are they tight and stiff (not so fun)?
- Is one dog asking for space or trying to get away and the other dog is not allowing it? Is the play edgy, hard-hitting, or causing fear for any participants?
- Is there healthy give and take in the play? Over a few minutes, does the dog who was on top take a turn on the bottom, or does the chaser become the chased?
- Is the play fluid, moving from one activity to another, or are the dogs “stuck?”
- Are two or more dogs ganging up on another who looks stressed?
- Is it becoming so intense that “snarks” and “scuffles” are happening?

If the play is not balanced, comfortable, and happy for all parties, the dogs' owners need to redirect the dogs' activities, settle the offending dogs down with a time out from play (outside the off-leash area), or take dogs home.

Calming/Stress Signals

Meant to Diffuse Tension, Recognize and React Appropriately. Signals that may indicate stress, discomfort, or an effort to avoid conflict include:

<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Averting eye contact• Lip-licking, nose-licking, chewing• Submissive urination• Going belly up• Tail between the legs• Increased activity• Scratching• Yawning	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Shaking off• Sniffing the ground• Front paw lift• Approaching slowly and in an arc• Sitting or lying down• Blinking• Sneezing
---	---

Inappropriate or Rude - Time for a Time Out or Maybe Time to Go!

- Hard stares and face-offs
- Excessive humping/mounting
- One dog chasing, pinning, targeting, or not letting up on another dog
- A group of dogs mobbing an individual dog

When It's Time to Go!

An important part of being a member of the Dog Park is recognizing when it is time for your dog to end their session for the day. If your dog is exhibiting any of the following behaviors, it may be time to leave the park and come back later:

- Stiff body posturing and pilo-erection (hair on shoulders and butt standing straight up)
- Repeated correcting of other dogs, sometimes over very benign instances
- Targeting, bullying, or stalking individual dogs
- Fearfulness which does not subside
- Prey drive – inborn desire to chase and hunt other smaller dogs
- Staring, growling, snarling
- Ears flat against head (uneasy) or erect and forward (confident)
- Tension in body and face
- Muscle ridges in face
- Stalking or very erect, up-on-toes stance
- Urination and ground scratching
- Tail up over back or straight
- Tail wagging only at tip
- A brief look-away or turn-away at a tense moment

Many of these behaviors have multiple meanings, so the trick is to know your dog and read the whole dog in context.

Owner Etiquette

Just as we expect appropriate behavior from the dogs at the park, we expect it from owners too!

- If your dog is crowding the gate when another dog is attempting to enter, call your dog back.
- Do pay attention to your dog. Socializing at the park can be fun for owners too, but it shouldn't come at the expense of monitoring your dog.
- If your dog is ruining the fun for another dog, leave.
- If you are going to give a treat to your dog, make sure it is away from the other dogs. NEVER give treats to another person's dog without their permission.
- Don't bring your dog to the park if your dog is sick or even 'might' be sick. Give them the rest they need and prevent spreading the illness to others.
- Don't assume every dog on-leash, close to the Dog Park, is heading to the Dog Park and is friendly. They may just be out for a walk. Don't approach or allow your dog to approach without permission.
- Don't leave your dog on-leash, or have them dragging the leash, inside the Dog Park. If you are uncomfortable allowing your dog off-leash, you should reconsider whether the Dog Park is the right place for you and your dog.
- Don't let your dog jump on people at the Dog Park.
- Be polite, even if someone else's dog is inappropriate and the owner isn't controlling his dog or is unwilling to take his own dog out of the park.
- If someone complains about your dog's behavior, impartially consider and evaluate the situation and behavior before immediately defending your dog.
- Don't discipline someone else's dog. If a dog's behavior is making you uncomfortable, address it with the owner and allow them to address it with their own dog.

Avoiding Good Times Gone Wrong

Fights

If handlers are on the ball, they will preempt rude play or bullying before fights break out. What do you do, though, if a fight erupts? One option is to do nothing. Very few dogs fight to the death, and no dog with a history of serious fighting should be at the Dog Park in the first place. Age appropriate children (14-17) who visit the Dog Park with an adult must be instructed ahead of time to walk away calmly from any fighting dogs, even their own. Do not run or scream, and do not get involved. Shrieking children can trigger tragic behavior from dogs.

Anyone interfering in a fight is at risk of being bitten. Highly aroused dogs do not always know what they are biting. If a person restrains one dog, the other dog might continue aggressing, provoking the restrained dog to bite the person holding him. Screaming or shouting can escalate tensions and bring more dogs into the fray.

If someone has been knocked down near the fight or the dogs are badly mismatched, it can be almost impossible to stand back. If you feel compelled to intervene in a serious fight, here are some options, listed in descending order of safety:

- Use a squirt water bottle or throw containers of water on the dogs.
- Startle the dogs with loud noise, such as a loud whistle, an air horn, or clanging metal.
- Throw coats or blankets over the dogs.
- Owners can simultaneously lift the tail of each dog in the fight.
- Take the dogs back feet off the ground, or...
- Grab the rear legs and pull the dogs out of the fight.
- Wait until the dog has stopped snapping and has calmed down some before releasing their legs.

After a Fight

- Put each of the dogs involved in the fight on leash, check them for injuries, and assess whether veterinary care is appropriate.
- Calmly exchange relevant information with the other dog owner(s), especially if there is an injury.
- Remove the dogs from the park, one at a time. Even dogs that did not join the fight are likely to be extremely aroused, and their owners are advised to call it a day also.
- Individually or collectively, review and evaluate what went wrong: What could have been done to prevent the dogs' interaction from escalating to a fight? Why didn't people see the fight brewing and intervene earlier?

Despite careful and proper preparation, instruction, medical advice, conditioning and equipment, there is still a risk of serious injury, including death to the dog, its owner/handler or other persons or animals. Certain inherent risks include the propensity of any dog to behave in dangerous ways that may result in injury to you, another person or dog. Other risks include, but are not limited to, the inexperience, negligence or irresponsibility of a dog owner/handler; the inability to predict a dog's reaction to sound, movements, objects, persons, or other animals; and actions by the dog due to fright, anger, stress, insect bites, or natural reactions such as jumping, pulling, resisting and biting. Other risks include the hazards associated with environmental and traffic conditions, acts of God, inclement weather, slip and falls, premises defects, equipment failure in instruction/supervision, and all other circumstances inherent to dog and/or outdoor activities.

Should you attempt to break up a dog fight or restrain a dog, including but not limited to your dog, you may be attacked by your dog, the other dog, or another dog's owner/handler. It is impossible for Whitpain Township to guarantee absolute safety.

I hereby acknowledge that I have voluntarily applied to participate and use with my dog(s) the Dog Park ("Park") owned and operated by Whitpain Township. I understand that the act of unleashing my dog(s) and being physically present within the Park involves a risk of injury to me, any persons that accompany me, other people using the Park, my dog(s), and other dogs. I understand that these risks are entirely my responsibility and I expressly assume that responsibility knowingly and voluntarily. I recognize and acknowledge that use of this facility and the surrounding area for dog activities and participating in dog activities entails certain risks of damage, loss or injury to animals, persons or property (including to me, other persons, my dog and other dogs or animals), and I voluntarily agree to assume the full risk of and responsibility for any injuries, damages, loss, liability, costs and expenses, regardless of severity, extent or amount, that (a) I, my dog or any other person accompanying me might sustain or incur as a result of my presence in this facility and surrounding area or my participating in any and all activities connected with or associated with use of this facility and surrounding area; or (b) any other person or animal might sustain as a result of me or my dog's actions or conduct in connection with or arising out of my presence in this facility and surrounding area or my participating in any and all activities connected with or associated with use of this facility and surrounding area.

I further understand and assume the risk that all dogs in the Park may not have current vaccinations for Bordetella, distemper, parvovirus, or rabies, all of which could result in injury to me, any individuals (including children) accompanying me, and my dog(s). I also understand that there are certain inherent risks, including the propensity of a dog to behave in a dangerous way. Additional risks include, but are not limited to: the inexperience or irresponsibility of a dog owner/handler; the inability to predict a dog's reaction to sound, movement, objects, persons, or other animals; dog fights, dog bites, and injuries to humans and other dogs; dog theft or unlawful capture; dog escape over or under fences, plants in the area that may be poisonous to dogs or people; mosquitoes, ticks chiggers, fleas, or other insects that may be present; and wild animals, such as skunks, raccoons, opossums, or stray dogs that could be present in the Park, all of which might injure or infect my dog(s); slip and falls, premises defects, equipment failure in instruction/supervision, and other circumstances inherent to dog and/or outdoor activities. I knowingly and voluntarily accept responsibility for all these risks in exchange for the privilege of using the Dog Park.

I further understand that no agents or employees of Whitpain Township will supervise the Park at any time and I therefore expressly assume responsibility for all risks associated with the Park as well as any fixtures and equipment that may be located there in an unsupervised manner.

I have carefully read this waiver and release and understand its contents. I have received/read the Whitpain Dog Park Application and Membership Guide including the Dog Park rules and regulations and agree by affixing my signature below to comply with those rules and regulations. I will also inform others that I may bring to the park (including children) of these rules and will ensure their compliance while using the park. My signature confirms that I am also not aware of any incidents in which my dog(s) has/have shown aggressive, fighting, or biting behavior towards people or other animals.

I recognize and acknowledge that use of this facility and the surrounding area for dog activities and participating in dog activities entails certain risks of damage, loss or injury to animals, persons or property (including to me, other persons, my dog and other dogs or animals), and I voluntarily agree to assume the full risk of and responsibility for any injuries, damages, loss, liability, costs and expenses, regardless of severity, extent or amount, that (a) I, my dog or any other person accompanying me might sustain or incur as a result of my presence in this facility and surrounding area or my participating in any and all activities connected with or associated with use of this facility and surrounding area; or (b) any other person or animal might sustain as a result of me or my dog's actions or conduct in connection with or arising out of my presence in this facility and surrounding area or my participating in any and all activities connected with or associated with use of this facility and surrounding area.

I do hereby agree to waive, relinquish, release and forever discharge Whitpain Township, and its officers, directors, employees, volunteers and agents, from any and all claims or causes of action for injuries, damages, loss, liability or expenses that I may have or which may accrue hereafter to me or any other person claiming through me or on my behalf and arising out of, connected with, or in any way associated with this use of this facility and surrounding area.

I fully and forever release and discharge Whitpain Township, its elected and appointed officials, employees and volunteers, and others working on behalf of the Township from all negligent acts or omissions with regard to the Dog Park and intend to be legally bound by this Release.

I further agree to indemnify and hold harmless and defend Whitpain Township and its officers, directors, employees, volunteers and agents, and from and against any and all losses, claims, damages, liabilities, cause of actions, and expenses (including but not limited to court costs and attorney fees), occurring, growing out of, incident to, or resulting directly or indirectly from my use of this facility and surrounding area, including without limitation any losses, claims, damages, liabilities, cause of actions and expenses on account of personal injury to or death of any person or animal, or damages to property of any person or entity.
